Money Rates Easier.

There was very little news to-day of a financial interest. Call money rates continued easy, and there was decided weakening of time money rates, it being possible for the first time within several weeks to get money for "over the end of the year" at 53-4 per cent.

a decidedly optimistic feeling regarding the money situation during the remainder of the year is gaining ground in high quarters. Whether as a cause or as a consequence of this, the market for railway short-term notes and other high interest-bearing obligations of a like sort has recently become much more active, and most of the securities of this kind that have been brought out in the last two or three weeks have made a relatively rapid sale.

New York, July 18.—The market eased off this merning on poor cables. Transactions were on a liberal scale, but largely of a local character, buyers for a turn being cager to secure profits, thus leaving the market without support. New buyers failed to materialize, and there was a cessation of the bullish crop reports from Texas, which were used with some effect carly in the week. The crop is being closely watched, and is no doubt picking up fast, but it is the smallness of the Effect of Theabauld Crash Disappears-No Weakness Is Shown in St. Paul Yesterday-Interest Shown in Expected Northern Pacific Extra Dividends-Selling Overdone.

New York, July 18 .- The traders did not have to wait long after the opening today for evidence that the selling of the previous afternoon was overdone. The market was oversold, and the fact showed itself clearly in a good demand for stocks in the loan crowd. This was the case in many active issues, including Amalgamated Copper, Reading, Pennsylvania, and Canadian Pacific. The subsequent course of prices showed the real condition of affairs even more conclusively, for, as the against them, and they were unable to make much progress with their covering operations.

The selling of stocks on Wednesday did Capital Traction not look formidable at the time, and apart from the effect noted in the borrowing, there is other evidence that it was not so. This is furnished by the sources from which houses that bought on the decline have obtained the stock purchased by them. A very large part of the certificates has come from houses that are recognized beadquarters of some of the most ultra-speculative operators in the street, and it is a pretty safe guess that they did not represent long stock.

As had been expected, the effect of the Theabauld failure as a stock market factor disappeared just as soon as the facts of the matter became known, and traders who had hastily sold on the unwarranted assumption that the suspension of the firm was "a big Wall street failure, were left in a position of uncomfortable Quotations are furnished by E. R. Chapman & uncertainty as to how or when they could decide upon their position. Some of them covered their contracts without hesitation and set down the loss to cost of experience. This brought some wholesome reflections which, if indulged in on the preceding day, might have been more profitable.

None of the weakness that made St. Paul a conspicuous feature of the railroad list just before the close on Wednesday could be found in the stock to-day It opened at an advance of nearly a point, and the next hour made a further gain of about equal proportions without bringing out a supply from any quarter. One thing, of course, is clear—St. Paul is no longer the popular favorite that it was a strong at 136 3-8.

LOCAL FINANCIAL GOSSIP.

Business was brisk on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, and as one fill his orders, everything seemed to be on the boom. The majority of sales were in Capital Traction and Washington Gas, hose two leaders scoring a notable day.

Capital Traction stock fluctuated be tween 136 and 1351-4, until near the close of the day's business, when it shot above 136, going as high as 3-8 on quotation lots of the stock. At the close the bid was strong at 136 3-8.

Washington Gas started in briskly at $2½, but crumbled away to 80, where it rested at the end of the regular call, after about 400 shares had been unloaded upon one broker. After call the price improved and went back to 80½, but in the face of the stock called out it was not strong at 136 3-8.

difficials in the Canadian Northwest, along with the claims that extra extritions were being made to suppress the publication of the same, started a general selling, part of it from the Northwest. Conservative Northwestern houses claimed that recent rates had improved the wheat crop situation in that it was still below average promise, The news from about 400 shared was rather bearish. were large offerings on the floor at 80, which apparently could not be sold.

Mergenthaler went up two points on sales, and the bid price was about three points above that of the previous day.

Opinions on the New York Market.

Benjamin Wooddruff, of Post & Flagg—
"While very dull most of the time, today's market has shown continued firmness, with special strength evidenced in Hill stocks, Northern Pacific making the substantial advance of four points. The strength of this stock of late has been accompanied by persistent rumors that the disposal of the company's interests in the Burlington stock to Great Northern would shortly take place and constitute a substantial melon for Northern Pacific stockholders.
